Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Joint Councils in Industry, Vol. 1: Issued as a Supplement to the Labour Gazette, February, 1921 In view of the increasing desire on the part of both employers and employees for information in connection with plans for securing a permanent improvement in the relations of employers and workers, the following notes have been compiled on the principles and practices governing Industrial Councils and Works Committees in Canada, Great Britain and the United States: Canada. It will be recalled that in April 1919, a Royal Commission known as the Royal Commission on Industrial Relations, was appointed by the Dominion Government to consider and make suggestions for securing a permanent improvement in the relations between employers and employees and to recommend means for insuring that industrial conditions affecting relations between employers and employees shall be reviewed from time to time by those concerned, with a view to improving conditions in the future. In order to secure the necessary basis for recommendations along these lines, the Commission was authorized to obtain information as to the character and extent...
